Program Approval

Introduction

This agenda item presents one single subject matter program submitted by institutions of higher education for single subject matter program approval.

Background

The Commission regularly receives recommendations for program approval from single subject matter review panels. These panels of subject matter experts review all program documentation and make an informed determination whether the program meets the standards common to all subject matter programs and also the content specific subject matter standards. The content specific subject matter standards are closely aligned to the K-12 academic content standards. These subject matter programs are usually undergraduate courses of study completed before candidates begin teacher preparation programs. However, the two programs may be completed concurrently.

Subject Matter Program Review Procedures

Following are the general procedures for the review of subject matter programs:

1. Technical Assistance – After the Commission adopts a set of new program standards, Commission staff members provide technical assistance to prospective program sponsors wishing to submit responses to the new standards. Technical assistance materials are provided on the Commission’s website. Staff members train, assign, and coordinate review team work.
2. Preconditions Review – After the program proposal is received, Commission staff review the sponsor’s response to the preconditions. The preconditions are based on both state laws and Commission policies, and address minimum unit and content area requirements. If the preconditions response is incomplete, the sponsor is requested to provide specific information necessary for compliance with the preconditions.
3. Program Review – The program sponsor’s responses to the Commission’s subject matter program standards are reviewed by a team of two or more subject matter educators to determine if the program meets the program standards, including the subject matter requirements (SMRs). The SMRs are the content knowledge required to be covered in the program and are aligned to the K-12 content standards that the candidate will be expected to know. The reviewers are trained in the alignment of the standards and subject matter requirements and in the review process before they are assigned proposals to review. Reviewers are instructed to find explicit evidence that programs not only align with K-12 content standards but also introduce their candidates to those standards within the context of their subject matter studies. The team must reach consensus that each standard is met based upon evidence provided in the document. If the program does not meet the standards, the sponsor is given an explanation of the findings. The sponsor may then submit the additional information requested. Once reviewers determine that the program proposal provides a convincing and adequate body of evidence to meet the Commission's adopted subject matter program standards, the program is recommended to the Commission for approval.

4. After subject matter program approval is granted by the Commission, the institution may admit candidates to the approved subject matter program. Graduates of a Commission approved single subject matter preparation program meet the Commission's subject matter requirement and are not required to take the subject matter examination (California Subject Examinations for Teachers -CSET).

This report presents single subject matter program which has been deemed to have met all of the appropriate Standards of Quality and Effectiveness for Single Subject Matter Preparation Programs (www.ctc.ca.gov/educator-prep/STDS-subject-matter.html) by the appropriate review panel and is recommended to the Commission for approval. The program has been aligned to the SB 2042 subject matter standards adopted by the Commission. The program brought forward to the Commission at this time is California State University, San Marcos: Social Science.

Summary Information on the Single Subject Matter Programs

California State University, San Marcos: Social Science

The History/Social Science program at CSU, San Marcos is intended to prepare future teachers for employment in California public schools. The required classes correspond with the subjects in history and social science that California teachers teach, as defined by the California History Social Science Framework for California Public Schools. Candidates in the program are required to make connections among the various spheres of human activity, sift through diverse forms of evidence, grapple with cultural differences, and weigh conflicting interpretations since teaching and learning history involve a continuous process of investigation, and an active engagement with both the past and present. The program is intended to provide the foundation of knowledge and presentation techniques essential for effective teaching of the social sciences through intellectual curiosity, critical thinking, and an enthusiasm for historical study. Candidates who complete the program are expected to achieve:

- A comprehensive understanding of processes in history and the social sciences that shape individuals and communities, and an ability to communicate this understanding to other students.
- An appreciation and understanding of diversity of experience as a reality of history and the social sciences, supporting an ability to educate a diverse community of young learners.

- Facility in doing research, analyzing varieties of historical evidence, and understanding differences in historical interpretation, along with an ability to include all these in classroom presentation.
- An ability to shape arguments in the context of history and the social sciences, and to present and defend these perspectives in class in engaging ways.
- An understanding of how new digital and multimedia formats are shaping the practice and presentation of history and the social sciences, providing both new opportunities and some new complexities for students and teachers.
- An ability to understand and to use historical, political, and economic analysis as a framework to further both lifelong learning and civic engagement among students.

Recommendations

Based upon a determination by reviewers that the following entity has met all relevant standards and requirements, staff recommends Commission approval of the following subject matter program:
